PRICE THREE CENTS

GAMPOS' MANIFESTO.

What He Promises to Accomplish in Cuba.

WHAT HE ASKS OF THE PEOPLE

He Asks For the Moral and Material Support of All Parties in Order That He May Quickly Bring to an End the Armed Rebellion in the Spanish Colonies.

Havana, April 24.—Political, military and naval circles all condemn the manifesto of Don Campos, which has been issued by Captain General Don Campos. In his manifesto he says that he is an adopted son of Havana and many other cities. For the second time he has been appointed to govern the rich province of Spain and he is full of love and gratitude to the country that has conferred so much honor upon him.

He trusts that the people will give him moral and material support in order that he may quickly bring to an end the armed rebellion. He asks for the moral and material support of all parties in order that he may quickly bring to an end the armed rebellion. He asks for the moral and material support of all parties in order that he may quickly bring to an end the armed rebellion.

After expressing confidence that the assurance will be given that he will establish reforms, a task which it would be hard for him to carry out if he could not rely on the three political parties. He has determined to establish with the true spirit the moral purification of the island. This is a more delicate undertaking than bringing to an end the war in the Oriental province, but with loyal support I will accomplish this, and with the improvement of the economic system I will return home proud of your love.

General Andres, brother-in-law of Marshal Don Campos, who is in command of the troops in Havana pending the arrival of the march, is becoming more popular daily, owing to the kindness and impartiality with which he treats everybody.

Don Campos has been received. Madrid, April 24.—At a conference between the premier, Sr. Canalejas and the ministers, the cabinet decided to send Don Campos to Havana as governor of the province. The cabinet decided to send Don Campos to Havana as governor of the province. The cabinet decided to send Don Campos to Havana as governor of the province.

BOY IN A BARREL.

A Gently Floating in the Atlantic.

REMONS, Mo., April 24.—On a sandbar in the Missouri river near Camden, within 600 yards of where Dr. William H. Fraker is supposed to have been drowned two years ago, William King and his son found in a barrel the skeleton of a man. The little boy, who had been saved from the trunk and had been cut out of the trunk, was brought to the Fraker family. There were no marks or papers by which the boy could be identified and it was buried on the river bank.

Some speculation as to whether the boy might not be that of the missing doctor, was indulged in, many theories being advanced. The doctor has been missing for two years. The little boy, who had been saved from the trunk and had been cut out of the trunk, was brought to the Fraker family. There were no marks or papers by which the boy could be identified and it was buried on the river bank.

The tugboat "Howard," from Pittsburgh for Cincinnati, with 18 barges of coal, struck a channel pier of the Norfolk and Western bridge on the West Virginia side, sinking three barges.

Drowned Bodies Identified.

CINCINNATI, April 24.—The identity of the woman who drowned herself and the little boy in the lake on Monday last has been established. She was Mrs. Mattie E. Morrison of Clifton, Ill., and the boy was her son. The woman was divorced from James P. Morrison, a real estate dealer of Clifton, two years ago. Mrs. Morrison was married a second time, five days ago, and left Clifton, leaving this bride to this day. No person is known for the sake of the Mrs. Morrison, save that she in some way is disappointed because her husband had married again.

READY FOR THE "SMART MONEY."

English War Vessels Reach Nicaragua With the Ultimatum.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Nicaraguan minister here has received a cablegram from his government announcing the arrival at Corinto, Nicaragua, of two British warships, with the express purpose of enforcing the demands contained in the British ultimatum. The minister was informed that the British demands for some time at least, and meanwhile the United States does nothing, but await the developments of events, unless the British take some action that affects our purely selfish interests, such as interfering with our shipping or other interests of American citizens. This attitude is assumed in the full confidence that no attempt will be made by the British to secure any Nicaraguan territory on a matter which they may be obliged to pass to the accomplishment of their purpose of collecting the "smart money" demanded for the expedition.

There is reason to believe that not only the Nicaraguan affair but the whole subject of the extent of the protection of the United States in Central and South America has been very earnestly and deliberately discussed by the president and his cabinet, and that the attitude assumed in the case of Nicaragua may be taken as an indication of the line of policy to be adopted for the treatment of all questions arising between European powers and these republics, having such a basis as the present Nicaraguan incident.

Approaching a Climax.

LONDON, April 24.—The Chronicle says that the dispatch of British troops to war in Corinto shows that the Nicaraguan affair is approaching a climax. DAMAGING EVIDENCE

More of It Added in the Durant Investigation.

SEVERAL WITNESSES TESTIFY.

One Young Lady Relates a Conversation She Had With Durant That Pales the Picture of His Character.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Another large crowd assembled at the police court yesterday to hear the examination of Theodore Durant, the alleged murderer of Minnie Williams. When Durant entered the courtroom in charge of officers he appeared pale and slightly nervous, his hands twitched and his lip worked nervously.

Another female crank appeared early in the morning. She presented herself at the prison and was admitted to Durant's presence, and after some conversation with him, most of which was spoken with her mouth almost touching his ear, and after finishing she went to Chief Crowley and said: "He is not the murderer. She said she had looked at his head and neck and saw positive evidence that he was the murderer. She said she was the gypsy queen, the most famous mind reader in the world. She was ejected by the officials without trouble."

Mrs. Williamson, the crank who created such a sensation Monday, was being escorted to the prison again, but was refused admission. The first witness was Harry Partridge, a chemist of Durant at Cooper medical college. Partridge testified that he answered to Durant's name at the trial of the chemist at Cooper medical college. ILLINOIS MINERS.

Two Meetings Held and a Scale of Prices Agreed Upon.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 24.—At a mass meeting of miners of the Springfield district held yesterday, resolutions were passed by an almost unanimous vote that the miners would insist on at least 40 cents per ton gross, the coming summer. The present rate is 45 cents, but the operators have decided to reduce it to 35 cents on May 1. James O'Connor of Springfield, president of the northern Illinois district, and William Garman of this city, secretary of the Illinois Miners' union, and James A. Crawford of Fulton county, member of the national executive board of the Union Mine Workers of America, presided over the meeting and urged that this stand be taken.

President O'Connor had just come from Joliet where there was held Monday a meeting of miners and operators from the Joliet district. He stated that the operators were in a very bad state of mind and that the village was about to be sacked and burned. The sheriff gathered up a dozen citizens and placed them at the Grand Hotel, where he could reach the village by telephone, and then went to the scene of trouble single handed to reconnoiter.

Spies evidently notified the strikers of his approach, as they disappeared from the streets before his arrival. He remained on the ground until late hours, but nothing of serious character happened. Monday night's outbreak was caused by the report that nonunion miners had increased in numbers, and that 19 men would go into the mines in the morning.

Wonder of Relationship.

In an old scrapbook which has been in the family of the editor of "Notes for the Curious" for twenty-five or thirty years, and which contains a number of clippings with dates, I find the following:—William Harman, who was a famous snail, at Louisville, Pa., a short time since, died so because someone had convinced him that he was his own grandfather. Here is a copy of the singular letter he left: "I married a widow who had a grown up daughter. My father visited us often, felt to love with my stepdaughter and married her. Thus he became my son-in-law, and my stepdaughter became my mother, because she was my father's daughter. After this my wife gave birth to a son, which, of course, was my father's brother-in-law, and my wife, for he was the brother of my stepmother. My father's wife also became the mother of a son. He was, of course, my brother, and also my grandchild. I was the son of my daughter. Accordingly my wife was my grandmother, because she was my mother's mother. I was my wife's husband and grandchild at one and the same time. And as the husband of a person's grandchild is his grandfather, I was my own grandfather. Was it any wonder that the poor man did himself of such tangled relationship?"

What Europe is Reading.

Books and news stands are everywhere in England and on the continent. In France Zola's books are displayed in greater profusion than those of all other authors, from which it is a fair inference that the novel is enormously popular there. The news stands at the American news stands have another in Europe, although it is not so common. In scores of book stores the novels of Richard D. Webb and Gunter, and much more trash, this seemed to me to be the beginning of the general sale of the English mind at the present time. The English people stand a deal of Zola and people of the latter half of the century.

LONGFELLOW'S FIRST POETRY.

He Was More Than Thirty When His First Volume Was Published.

Toward the end of 1830 he took up his residence in Cambridge, where he was to reside for the rest of his life—for 45 years. He was made so full at home in the society of the scholars who clustered about Harvard, then almost the sole center of culture in the country. His work for the college was not so exacting that he had not time for literature. The impulse to write poetry returned, yet the next book he published was the poem "Hyperion," which appeared in 1839, and which, though it has little plot or action, may be called a romance. The youthful and poetic is a passion, a pilgrim in Europe, was more or less, a reflection of Longfellow himself.

A few months later in the same year he published his first volume of poetry—"Voices of the Night"—in which he repeats in certain of his earlier verses, most of them written while he was at Bowdoin. Some of these boyish verses show the influence of Bryant, and others reveal to us that the young poet had not yet looked at life for himself, but still saw it through the stained glass windows of European tradition. The same volume contained also some more recent poems—"The Belonged City" and "The Flower and the Leaves" and the "Palm of Life"—perhaps the first of his poems to show a swift and oblique popularity. These lyrics testified that Longfellow was beginning to have a style of his own. As Hawthorne wrote to him, "Nothing equal to them was ever written in this world—this western world, I mean."

Certainly no American author had yet written any poem of the kind so good as the best of those in Longfellow's volume of "Ballads," printed two years later. Better than any other American poet Longfellow had mastered the difficulties of the story in song, and he knew how to combine the swift and the picturesque the ballad requires. His ballads have more of the old time magic, more of the early simplicity than those of any other modern English author. Of his kind there is nothing better in the language than "The Slave," "The Arrow," with its splendid lyric swing, and "The Village Blacksmith" and "The Wreck of the Hesperus" are almost as good in their humble style. "Excelsior," in the same volume, evokes the noble aspirations of youth and has been taken to heart by thousands of boys and girls. Professor Brandes Matthews in St. Nicholas.

He Shaved Himself.

"I had a good barber story the other day," said a man in the hotel room, "and for genuine sarcasm I believe it carries off the palm. It may be an old story, but it is a worth re-telling. It appears that a certain barber was trying to establish a certain man as a customer in his chair. He thought the customer ought to know him, as he had lived here a long time and had often sat on platforms at public meetings under other vice presidents."

To Make Pure Blood.

There is no medicine better for the people equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the standard spring medicine and blood purifier and it possesses peculiar merit which others try in vain to reach. It really makes the weak strong. Do not neglect to purify your blood this spring. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla now.

O, Ye Blind!

Lost Only One Pair.

Thackeray once asked one of the men who let out skates on the Serpentine whether he had ever lost a pair through the omission to exact a deposit, and he replied that he had never done so except on one occasion, when the circumstance made it almost pardonable. A well-dressed young fellow was having his second skate fastened on when he suddenly broke away from the ice. The man's hands and feet were in the air. The man's hands and feet were in the air. I am sixty years old. In August, 1893, was troubled with the peculiar skin disease known as eczema. It rapidly extended over the lower extremities and my legs were nearly covered with the trouble. I consulted one after another, from the best medical men in the city, and the result was that I was employed, no less than five physicians, and being treated and the prescriptions being the result of their combined wisdom, the disease, though apparently checked, would recur. I began to feel that I was in a hopeless condition. I began to feel that I was in a hopeless condition. I began to feel that I was in a hopeless condition.

GOOD AND BAD LUCK.

Their Influence is Determined by the Law of Probability.

A great deal of sophistry has been wasted in vain attempts to prove that there is no such thing as luck, good or bad; that nothing happens by chance, but all results coming from some definite cause. Even though the latter statement could be proved or should be admitted, it would not preclude the existence of luck in the ordinary sense of the word. That which occurs, favorable or unfavorable to him, from any cause beyond his control, is good luck, and there is no doubt that luck plays some part in the history of every man, but it is of much less importance than the idea of indifference.

The Awakening Tiger.

Between the drowsy sleep of the nocturnal animal and the hyper-sensitive sleep of those which spend their lives in constant fear of their enemies a place must be found for the form of slumber enjoyed by the large cativore and that of domestic animals. The former have no enemies to fear except man, and the latter, protected by man, enjoy to the full the blessing of natural rest.

NO DOG IN HER HOUSE.

A Bouncing House Keeper Tells Why She Has No Dog in Her House.

Persons with dogs and other pets must with a cold and clammy reception in New York boarding houses. They may occasionally meet in a fashionable flat, where the landlord or agent has no direct means of circumventing them, but when it comes to the boarding house things are a little more definite.

A nice looking married couple went into a Twenty-third street boarding house the other day and were made comfortable. After the first dinner the lady was observed sweeping together some dainties from the board to take to her room. The landlady, who is a woman of great decision of character, heard of it, and her knock was shortly answered at the door of the new boarders. The latter were immediately notified that either they or the dog must vacate at once.

CHARACTER IN WINDOW SHADES.

They Tell Tales About the Inmates of the House, a Young Woman Says.

"I don't know anything about the inmates of a house that more clearly indicates the character and condition of the inmates than the window shades," said a young woman of observation. "If you see the shades all drawn down to precisely the same level in every window, you can tell at once that the house is occupied by a single family and that the mistress is of a severely orderly spirit. There'll not be a thing out of its accustomed place in that house, you can rest assured. If the shades of all the windows are drawn down to the top of the bottom rail, while those of the parlor are drawn clear down, you can safely judge the family of that house to be one of those essentially domestic ones that live mostly on stairs, where the bedroom is at once the wife's sewing room and the husband's library, and where the parlor is only opened on state occasions."

HUNTING PYTHON IN NATAL.

Burn Forest and Big Ties to Capture the Immense Reptiles.

The natives of Natal, South Africa, abound in python trappers and python hunters. While they do not attack man, they are especially destructive of cattle, sheep, and even, and for this reason parties are formed by hunters and natives to hunt the python and to destroy it in order to exterminate the pest. Some of the best of the python hunters are the natives of the Kaffirs, they are the best of the python hunters, they are the best of the python hunters.

WAS A PHILOSOPHER.

A BLEGAR STUDENT OF HUMAN NATURE WHO HAD A SYSTEM.

Medicament Carried Out Upon Practical Theory—Why He Avoided the Rich—Stood Outside a Restaurant, but Never Begged From a Hungry Looking Man.

He was a wretched looking chap, so badly clad that he was really an object of pity. He had sought a secluded corner at the entrance of a cheap restaurant near Herald square, and for awhile it seemed as if he had chosen the spot merely to escape the chilling blasts of the cutting wind. Many men passed into the place, but he spoke to none. Finally one who had just completed his meal came forth. The man started forward, hesitated a moment and then returned to his former position. Soon another man, apparently in a great hurry, came from the restaurant, buttoning his coat as he walked. In a moment the poor fellow stood in the way and barely had he uttered his request for help when he was rewarded with a dime.

A Moment Later a group of young men in very high hats passed into the restaurant. To an ordinary student they would have been just the right men to approach for alms, but the beggar saw that they were not. It was only to certain men returning to the street that he made himself known. It was but the work of a moment to pick an acquaintance with the fellow, and when he found I was interested he started a story of his life.

"I had to do a hard deal of thinking about it when I first started," he said. "I can't get work now, and when I have work I can only keep it for a little while on account of rheumatism. When I saw I had to beg, I thought I might as well do it right or not at all. If you know anything about men's faces and clothes, you don't have to do any guesswork at all. I can tell long before I get near a man what my chances are with him, and if I don't think that I can't try him, for there's no good in wearing yourself out and getting common. Some fellows go along the street and try to touch every well dressed man they meet. They couldn't do anything worse, for they are just as professional and steady as the rest of them. The only time to do up against a well dressed man is a straight thing, without regard to his face, is when they are full and feeling happy over it."

The average well dressed man or woman is the hardest kind of a person to hit. They do not like for charity, but it is in a different way—schools for kids, kindergartens and nurseries, and they think they are doing wrong. If any one hits them on the street, they put them down for a professional. You have got to judge the well dressed people by their faces and general manner and let their clothes count for nothing."

"Whenever I have to do any street work, I always select the people of the lower middle class, who don't put me in any front—women especially. I mean people who live comfortably, but haven't got any too much money to spare. Say, you may think I'm stringing you, but I would rather have one nickel from one of them than a quarter from a fellow who would not let me have it. I have found that I can't get a cent as sentimental about that some time."

"Now, you take this stand of mine here today. There's three men who gave me something—two nickels and a dime. I have been here half an hour and I've got about five men. I missed two. Well, three out of five don't look like bad work, if you want to call it so, does it? This is the cheapest way to get a cent, and I'm going to take my chances with their right hands."

"I always wait till a man comes out. Some people think it ought to be the other way, for the reason that a man who is hungry would be more apt to give out of sympathy for the man who was hitting him for money for something to eat. But I didn't figure it out that way. You see, these are pretty hard times, and I'm going to take my chances with their right hands."

BAD WRECK

On the C. H. & D. Road Near Cincinnati Last Evening.

A Relief Engine Crashes Into the Rear End of a Disabled Freight Train.

Last evening about 9 o'clock north bound freight train 94, on the C. H. & D., stalled between Hartwell and Maplewood, this side of Cincinnati. Engine 30, in charge of engineer Lyons, was sent out from Cincinnati to help the disabled train. At Hartwell the black was found to be clear, although the wreck happened between that place and Maplewood, the next station. Lyons, thinking he had a clear track, put his engine under full speed and the first he knew of the contrary was when he saw a flagman, and could not stop in time to prevent a collision and his engine crashed into the rear end of the disabled freight train.

The engine ploughed clear through the caboose, setting it and the next adjoining freight car on fire. The engine itself was badly damaged, Lyons and Mann jumped to time to escape with only a few slight scratches.

The fire departments of Lockland and Wymonding turned out and prevented the fire from spreading to the rest of the train. The caboose was consumed and one car partially so. The train remained blocked for several hours, and passenger trains had to be sent over another track. The loss is between $2,000 and $3,000.

The operator at Hartwell says that the telegram to him said the black was clear, and signaled Engineer Lyons accordingly. He does not know where the mistake originated.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Ohio and Indiana Torpedo Company's Factory Lets Go.

The Makers Discover the Fire Before it Reaches the Glycerine and Traps Their Lives - The Building Wrecked and Damage Done in the City.

The most severe explosion of the many which have occurred in the vicinity of Lima since the establishment of glycerine factories near here, took place at 11:35 o'clock today and in addition to demolishing the factory of the Ohio and Indiana Torpedo company, did a considerable amount of damage in the city, in the way of breaking plate glass windows.

The explosion made a sharp, quick report which died away in waves of sound which gradually became dimmer and dimmer until finally they could not be heard at all.

The factory was located on almost the same place as the one in which poor Andy Chute was killed and Ben Dow and Tom McHugh were injured and Joseph Potter slightly hurt about two years ago.

The building was a frame one, located on the Dobbins farm across the C. & E. tracks from Woodlawn cemetery, southwest of the city. The building was blown into fragments and a large hole about thirty feet deep and fifty feet in diameter torn in the earth underneath where the factory had stood.

Immediately after the explosion hundreds of persons started in the direction of the report, realizing that nothing except.

A GLYCERINE EXPLOSION.

and a heavy one at that, had occurred. Vehicles and bicycles chased each other out the road toward the location of the factory and many made the journey on foot, until within fifteen minutes after the explosion there were a hundred people on the ground viewing the debris.

The glycerine makers, H. Easton and A. M. Underwood, had very miraculous escapes from being blown up, as will be found in interviews with them which appears below.

Representatives of the Times-Democrat were among the first at the scene of the explosion and found Easton sitting bareheaded on an empty acid tank about fifty feet from where the factory had stood, and when asked what had caused the explosion, he replied: "I can't say."

Underwood and I had finished making our six runs, and had sat down in the factory to eat dinner, while the glycerine was draining out of the drow's tank, when I noticed that the piece of hose connecting the drowing tank with the fire, I saw a light going up and Underwood and I both sprang through the door and started toward the railroad. I saw a train coming and a man walking along the track, both from the west, and I started toward them to stop them and Underwood went on across the railroad, northward, to stop a farmer who was coming to D. from Lima to a point between Ottawa and Col. Grove, and strike off a straight line for Houghton. This line was more direct than the C. L. & M. line. It will cross the Tangle line just west of the road crossing. Houghton's road can easily be secured, and our citizens should head every effort to secure it.

The proposed route to Ottawa is to parallel the C. L. & M. line along the east side of that road, thence to Houghton, fourteen miles east of Defiance and on the B. & O. road. A public railroad meeting has been called at Ottawa for next Saturday night to discuss the matter.

Paper and what the Times-Democrat is able to learn, there is every reason for believing that the C. L. & M. road will be built as originally projected, and by the promoters of the enterprise, which would be of vast importance, not only to Lima but to all the towns through which the line will pass. The abandonment of the underground proceedings would greatly hasten the matter, and the building of the road by this city and Brava would be followed with the completion of the line from this city to Columbus. It is to be hoped the work will soon be commenced, as the route of the original line would be much more beneficial to Lima and the other towns along the route than the extension northward of some other road, already completed into this city.

WAS A RUDE

And a Gay Quartette Kindly Took Him in Tow.

A Spencerville Man Steered Into the Tenderloin District Last Night.

Last evening an individual giving his name as H. Blakely, aged about 30 years, arrived in the city from Spencerville and about 9 o'clock last night got in company with four strangers at the P. F. W. & C. depot. Blakely was not slow in making the acquaintance of the strangers and couldn't rest until he told them that he had just settled up an estate and was on his way to Kansas. He took the four men to Kate Walker's saloon, where he flashed his money and treated. After that his friends escorted him to two or three other places, but were watched by policeman Patton and Phalen, who telephoned Lieut. Wingate, when the party left their beat. By the time Lieut. Wingate, and patrolman Lehman joined Patton and Phalen and the four men had steered Blakely into Clara Kellogg's place, where he began to realize that he was getting into bad company and wanted to leave. The men insisted upon his staying there, but he finally got outside, where they again joined him and were going south on Tanner street with him when the police overtook them and placed them under arrest.

The prisoners gave their names as W. H. Joy, Chas. Joyce, E. Kirk and C. D. McFarland. Blakely was allowed to spend the remainder of the night at the Taylor House and this morning he appeared before the mayor and was glad to learn that his money was safe.

No charges could be made against the prisoners, who were released and instructed to leave the city as soon as possible.

OHIO SOUTHERN

Seems to be Behind the Lima Northern Railroad.

The Scheme to Secure the C. L. & M. Right of Way May Be Abandoned.

From developments during the past few days, it begins to look as though the Ohio Southern railroad company is behind the Lima Northern company, which is seeking to secure the C. L. & M. right of way and road bed between this city and Defiance for condemnation proceedings.

The Ohio Southern of last Friday contains the following article in reference to the matter:

"It has been known that the Ohio Southern Railway company" was desirous of getting a northern outlet from Lima, and with that object in view made efforts to secure the company under the law laid aside a right of way after it has lain unused for five years. But it seems that the price paid for long and expensive litigation and the fabulous prices asked for the right of way at various points on the route has discouraged further efforts in that direction. So the company now proposes to parallel the C. L. & M. line from Lima to a point between Ottawa and Col. Grove, and strike off a straight line for Houghton. This line was more direct than the C. L. & M. line. It will cross the Tangle line just west of the road crossing. Houghton's road can easily be secured, and our citizens should head every effort to secure it.

The proposed route to Ottawa is to parallel the C. L. & M. line along the east side of that road, thence to Houghton, fourteen miles east of Defiance and on the B. & O. road. A public railroad meeting has been called at Ottawa for next Saturday night to discuss the matter.

It is to be hoped the work will soon be commenced, as the route of the original line would be much more beneficial to Lima and the other towns along the route than the extension northward of some other road, already completed into this city.

THE ROAD RACE

To Be One of the Grandest Events of the Season.

F. E. Harman's annual twenty-mile bicycle race, which will be given on the afternoon of Thursday, May 30th, (Decoration Day), promises to be one of the grandest events of the season. The entry blanks will be out by the first of May and the prize list will be completed within a few days. Most of the enterprising business men of the city are becoming interested in this big event and are adding special prizes to the list every day. A full list will be published as soon as it is complete. The first time prize will be a beautiful diamond ring, valued at $150. The second time prize will be a $50 gold medal. There will also be an Allen Co. time prize which is yet to be selected. The first place prize, or the prize to be awarded the rider who finishes first, will be a Columbia racer.

Among the many special prizes which will be given will be a ticket for one hundred hats, for the first member of the Lima Cycling Club crossing the tape and a twenty bath ticket for the second member of the club crossing the tape. These will be given by Harry Johnston, proprietor of the swimming school. The Burnet House will also give a special prize.

Among the prizes will be two gold watches, a Singer sewing machine, a Jewett range, several medals, bicycle suits, shoes, sweaters, etc., $5 worth of bread tickets, five boxes of gum, several boxes of cigars, perfume, etc., etc. The riders who will participate in the twenty mile race will be started from in front of Harman's store, between 3 and 3:15 o'clock in the afternoon, and to entertain the spectators while waiting for the finish, Mr. Harman is arranging to give a three mile road race, exclusively for Lima boys under the age of fifteen years.

It will be a handicap race and the boys will begin starting from Fraunfelder's, on the Allen road, immediately after the scratch starters in the twenty mile race leaves Harman's store. The finish will be on west North street and soon after the boys race is over, the riders in the big race will begin to arrive.

There will be ten prizes for the winners of the boys race, ranging from $25 to $1 in value.

Over twenty thousand people witnessed the road race last year and the crowds will doubtless exceed that this season.

Ladies $2.00 shoe for $1.50; $3.00 shoe for $2.00; $4.00 shoe for $3.00; $5.00 shoe for $4.00. O'Brien's, 138 N. Main. 61-2t

THE LEAGUE OF AMERICAN WHEELMEN.

A great many of our older bicycle riders are fully posted on the benefits of a membership in the League of American Wheelmen, and for the information of those who are not members I give below a few of the benefits to be derived from it. There are many points to be gained by cooperation and the objects of the league as set forth herein are such that every rider in Lima should add his name to the list. The cost is only $2.00 for the first year. One dollar of this is for initiation fee and the other for annual dues. After the first year the annual dues are only $1.00 and you get a weekly paper containing all the latest cycling news, which is worth all the membership costs. Read the following over carefully and make up your mind to join with us:

Every one who rides a bicycle ought to join the League of American Wheelmen, when it is considered how many advantages it offers for such a small membership fee.

When a bicycle is stolen from one of its members it offers a reward for the arrest and conviction of the thief.

When one of its members is run down by a horseman, it employs the best available legal talent to prosecute the offender, without cost to the member, and often succeeds in securing heavy damages.

It defends the members when sued by the owners of horses which have frightened at a bicycle, and invariably throws the costs on the plaintiff.

It has spent thousands of dollars in the cause of good roads. It secures reduced rates at hotels for its members and furnishes them with a weekly cycling paper.

Further information will be cheerfully furnished by F. E. Harman, who has been appointed League local consul for Lima and vicinity.

OIL UNCHANGED.

Price for Lima's Product Remains Stationary.

Activity Continues in This District, as Well as Throughout the Field.

There was no change in the Eastern or Lima oil market today.

ABOUT SPENCERVILLE.

SPENCERVILLE, April 24.—There is no denying the fact that the people of Northwestern Ohio have gone "oil mad."

The farmers have the fever, and are investing every dollar that can be obtained, now and in the future, in the oil business.

A few days ago secured the leases on the Spicer and Chell farms, of fifty-two acres. Last Friday Mr. McMullen entered the office of Dr. J. R. Welch and inquired: "Doctor, have you any medicine that will cure a crazy man?"

"Well, I don't know," replied the doctor, "but if I try will explain perhaps I can tell you."

"Well, I bought two leases a day or two ago, paying $3,000 for them. There are six producing wells, several tanks of oil, and one well about finished on the leases. I paid at the rate of $25 cents per barrel for the oil in the tanks, but oil is worth $1.00 a barrel, now and I don't know whether to hold it for a while or dispose of it now. I am plumb crazy."

Doubling their money in a few days is a new thing for farmers, and enough to turn their heads. The doctor advised him to sell at once, which he did.

IN KENTUCKY.

From Wayne county, West Virginia, comes the rumor of renewed interest in oil, and in Martin county, Kentucky, the same conditions exist.

J. W. Major, formerly a driller with the New Dominion and with Greenlee & Forest, has arranged a

WYANDOT COUNTY OIL.

The Wyandot oil company has been incorporated by Columbus and Upper Sandusky capitalists, to prospect for oil and gas. The capital is $50,000. Incorporators—A. G. Pugh, W. D. Brickett, M. A. Smalley, Alvin Koman, George Kenan and Allen Smalley.

LEASING ABOUT TIFFIN.

TIFFIN, April 24.—Oil speculators have been extremely busy in Tiffin and vicinity for the past few days, and several thousands of acres of land have been leased. Local capitalists have secured possession of large tracts of land near Bascom and Kansas field. The Standard Oil company has representatives in the field securing oil leases on all the land they can get.

H. B. Anderson, who is the manager for W. J. Weixell, a wealthy Eastern oil operator, has his headquarters in Tiffin, and to-day disposed of 9,000 barrels of oil at $1.27 per barrel. The company which he represents is drilling in two wells west of Bettisville, this county, and two west of Gibsonburg. At the latter named place 16 wells are being operated by him, and at Burgon 12. These wells are producing about 400 barrels of oil per day.

An expert gauger is making a careful test of the Betty well in this city, and the work of pumping it is going on day and night. A period of 10 hours 40 barrels were pumped from the well, which indicates that the well is good for from 60 to 100 barrels per day, making it by far the best producer yet found in the Tiffin field.

The Sun Oil company, of Pittsburg, has secured possession of several thousand acres of land in the vicinity of Tiffin and Bascomb, and has been the most spirited leaser in the Tiffin field. The Looney Bros., also of Pittsburg, have been actively engaged in securing oil leases on land east of Tiffin and in other portions of the county.

INDIANA OPERATORS BUSY.

PORTLAND, IND., April 24.—The shrinkage in the value of oil is not damping Indiana operators, and they are pushing ahead and putting down new wells as fast as possible. Men, teams and derrick timbers are in demand, and by reason of their scarcity the sinking of many wells is being delayed.

THE CYCLING CLUB

About to Secure a Club House Location

That will be a Credit to the Club and to the City-Ethical Meeting Last Night.

The movement which followed the reorganization of the Lima Cycling Club, to secure permanent and comfortable quarters for the club, has been taken up with interest by the enthusiastic members, and it is probable that the location of a club house will be decided upon at a meeting which will be held in the assembly room at the court house next Friday night. The special committee that was appointed to search for a suitable location reported at the meeting held last night, recommending that the Coe property adjoining Ft. Parham's store, on east High street, be secured and fitted out for a club house at once. The location is an ideal one and it is hardly possible to secure one more convenient or better adapted for the purpose anywhere in the city. The building is a comfortable, medium-sized dwelling house, containing about seven rooms, of which in front are quite large and at the time of a club meeting or reception may be converted practically into one room by the adjustment of the folding doors between them. There is a spacious lawn in front of the house, where members may run their bicycles during pleasant weather, and in rainy weather a back room on the ground floor may be used for the wheel room. The house is located quite near the center of the city, being less than half a block from Main street, and nearness men, clerks and others who are occupied in the main portion of the city during the day, can keep their riding suits at the club house, where they will be very convenient when a run is to be taken after business hours.

The property can be rented at a reasonable figure, and all who are interested in the club, having expressed themselves highly in favor of adopting the recommendation of the committee on location, and each member present signed a paper manifesting his willingness to pay at initiation fee of $1, and 25 cents per month dues in order to secure and maintain the club house.

On account of there having been a misunderstanding about the time of meeting, there was not a very large attendance last night, and for that reason the matter was deferred until Friday night, when another meeting will be held and the plans completed. The Coe property is about to be traded and is being held for the decision of the Cycling Club and without a doubt, that will be the location of the club headquarters of The Lima Cycling Club.

Each member of the club should help the movement along and not leave the work to be done by a few of the most devoted and faithful members and before the close of the season the club will be a credit to the city. Get out your club colors and get the new riders interested and enthused.
